

Watch the sweat come off your hand in sparkles of water droplets escaping into a vacuum.

Anxiety is a made up fortune teller word made popular by Freud relatives mainly Ana.
Anxiety means to learn something new in mammals

Every cadence of animals is musical on some level and that has been written longer than math math and music are intertwined cutting numbers is quicker than cutting music but music relies on resonance so binary systems have limits to their influence on biology. That is where vacuum energy is as a buffer which transfers EM to matters of different tunings and levels.

"neural net chips in every crib. this will show love is blindness" -Andrew Endsley in times before the year 2020 and the decades to follow.

this is a thinking persons game

There are two ways vacuum energy is described below, the latter is rather bleak.

Vacuum energy can at first be a flower. Which needs the air around it to give off oxygen and other gases.

Vacuum energy can also be seen through the altitude experiments conducted at the Dachau Concentration Camps. Where prisoners of this world were placed into places where there was no air to breathe and worse things which they discovered happen to the body after repeated trial.

TO continue a more subtle way of describing vacuum energy is watching the sweat come off the palm of your hand or any part of your skin with some diminishing layer of sweat.
